RIGGING & CRANE TRAINING

As part of fulfilling the obligations of DUE DILIGENCE an employer is required to provide training for their worker as indicated in the Alberta Occupational Health & Safety Regulation as follows

15 (1) An employer must ensure that a worker is trained in the safe operation of the equipment the worker is required to operate.

- which includes the use, care & maintenance of all rigging and items or equipment used in hoisting.

Continental Chain & Rigging has provided on site classroom sessions to assist the employers & workers in achieving the necessary training to work safely while performing the task of rigging & hoisting. Our trainers are considered to be part of an elite group whose credentials and experience in the rigging industry are second to none.

We offer a one day basic rigging course that consists of general rigging practices, applications and requirements. To compliment this course we also offer an additional one day basic crane operation course that details required protocol and procedures to perform the task of crane operations & functions in a responsible and safe manner.

It is important to note that only the employer can deem the worker/individual as competent to perform the job as required. Training is only part of the requirement and due diligence should be given when the worker is gaining experience under proper supervision.
